

Dear ESGO Committee

My name is Brahmana Askandar Tjokroprawiro, I am a gynecologic oncologist at Medical School of Universitas Airlangga / Dr. Soetomo General Academic Hospital in Surabaya, Indonesia. I am writing this letter because I am interested in participating in the selection for the position of council member of the European Society of Gynecologic Oncology (ESGO). This opportunity is interesting for me, because I hope that by becoming a council member of ESGO, I can bridge gynecologic cancer care between developed and developing countries.

Since graduating as a gynecologic oncologist in 2006, I have been involved in many activities related to gynecologic oncology both as an administrator of organizations related to gynecologic oncology in various positions, as a speaker, as an organizer of gynecologic oncology seminar events, as a teacher in the field of gynecologic oncology, providing surgical training in the field of gynecology oncology and is also involved in several gynecologic oncology events in Asia. My concern is how developing countries can keep up with developments in gynecological cancer services in developed countries. My concern is how developing countries can keep up with developments in gynecological cancer services in developed countries. Because of this, since being elected president of the Indonesian Society of Gynecologic Oncology (INASGO), I have held many events involving internationally renowned experts in the field of gynecologic oncology. One thing that I am very proud of is that since 2023, Indonesia has been named by the International Gynecologic Cancer Society (IGCS) as a strategic alliance. Every month on the 3rd Thursday, Indonesia hosts the international gynecologic tumor board, in collaboration with IGCS, which is attended by multidisciplinary experts from Indonesia, Singapore, Japan, USA, etc. In the future, I hope that ESGO cooperation with developing countries will be even closer and beneficial for both parties.

I really like collaborative activities, especially those that can balance knowledge, research, etc. in the field of gynecological cancer between developed countries such as European countries and developing countries. I hope that by being elected as an ESGO council member, I can realize my wish so that developing countries can follow the progress of developed countries in gynecological cancer services.

Sincerely yours

Brahmana Askandar Tjokroprawiro
